14 July 1986

Note For: Debbie

Some time ago, the DCI indicated interest in attending a presentation to EXDIR's seminar group by Dewey Clarridge. We have had to reschedule this session several times because of Dewey's TDYs.

It is now on again for [REDACTED] DCI
Conference Room. Drawing from his experience [REDACTED]

[REDACTED], Dewey will be focusing on:

- the characteristics that can generate a need to replace our traditional way of doing business with a more centralized approach;
- how we recognize such a situation;
- how you make the new organization work;
- pitfalls/problems in taking such a step;
- other problems we face that might be candidates for such an approach.

Is the DCI still interested in attending? yes

If so, would he like to introduce Dewey?
(we will provide talking points) yes
